An Important Sale.

Special attention is directed to the sale advertised in another column by R. A. Pringle, Esq., to take place in Charlotte, on Wednesday next, November 5th. The list embraces articles of every description much needed in this section of the country. We hope that our merchants will be well represented at the sale and that they will secure such goods as are in demand in this market.

Elections Not to be Held.

Nine States hold their annual elections on the 4th of November, to-wit: New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Minnesota, and Delaware.

Plymouth, N. C.

It is stated that our troops have retaken Plymouth, N. C. The following telegram confirming the rumor, was received Thursday night at Raleigh, by Gov. Vance, from Gen. J. G. Martin:

Goldboro, Oct. 29.—It is reported by a courier to Wilson, that our troops have possession of Plymouth.

The Health of Wilmington.

The Journal Extra, of Friday last, furnishes the annexed in reference to the health of Wilmington:

"By some inadvertence or mistake, whether editorial or typographical, we omitted yesterday to give the number of new cases reported as having occurred the day before. The number was 24. This omission was purely accidental, as we commented upon the increased number, attributing it to the comparative mildness of the weather."

"The number of interments at the Cemetery yesterday was the same as for the day before—4. We do not know the number of colored interments, but are nearly certain that it must have been small."

"The number of new cases reported as having occurred yesterday is 20 and one physician to hear from. It will in all probability equal if not exceed that of the day before."

"P. S.—The physician above referred to has just made his return to the Mayor. He reports 5 new cases, which, added to the above, makes 25 new cases as occurring yesterday, an increase over the day before of one."

Death of Mayor Monroe.

The Atlanta Confederacy is informed by the Hon. F. A. Hatch, late Collector of the port of New Orleans, that Mayor Monroe, who had been so long imprisoned by Butler, the vile beast, is dead. He died from the effects of his imprisonment on Ship Island, where he suffered from neglect, all manner of want, disease and torture of body, besides that of mind. Butler still lives. How much longer shall he be endured?

Arrival from Nassau.

Understand Major Cookings arrived a few days ago in Charlotte, having run the blockade from Nassau, N. P., where his regiment was stationed. The Major has resigned his commission in the British army to espouse our cause. He is a man of fine military education, and has nobly distinguished himself in the Indian war, and the battles in the Crimea.—South Carolinian.

Another Convert from Lincolnism.

The Cleveland (Tenn.) Banner publishes a communication from the Rev. J. B. Dobson, in which he renounces his allegiance to the old Union, and concludes by saying: "I am not for a union that proposes to strike down the institutions of the South, take away her constitutional rights, and wantonly subjugate her citizens. In view of Mr. Lincoln's late proclamation, and other developments, I am constrained to say to my old friends, that I am now a Southern man in heart, sympathy and purpose; and I invite them to read the proclamation, and it is confidently believed that they will arrive at a similar conclusion."

Late and Important from New Orleans.

On Sunday, 19th, the English man-of-war Rinaldo, approached the foot of Canal street, and, assuming a hostile attitude, demanded from the authorities the release of James Syme, druggist, an English subject, who was confined in Fort Pickens, and indemnification for the seizure of his property and person; to the extent of $100,000. General Butler, requested that day to consult with the authorities at Washington, to which the Captain assented. The Captain of the Rinaldo is a young British officer of great gallantry, and whose sympathies are said to be warmly in favor of the South. When our prisoners were leaving New Orleans the band on his vessel struck the lively tune of the "Bonnie Blue Flag," to the great chagrin of the Yankees.

CHARLOTTE MERCURY.

O. A. Brownson, the great Catholic writer, has been nominated for Congress by the Federalists of the third district of New Jersey.

We understand (says the Richmond Enquirer, of the 1st inst.) that Gen. Briggs left this city yesterday to resume the command of his Department.

The Baltimore American pronounces the report of European intervention a mere fabrication.

Brilliant Affair at Hay Market, Virginia.

We are indebted to a friend for the particulars of a skirmish at the town of Hay Market, Virginia, in which our cavalry, the second North Carolina, two hundred strong, supported by two pieces of artillery, advanced to within three miles of Siegel's command, numbering thirty thousand—passed the enemy's out posts near Manassas Junction, pushed on to Hay Market, captured thirty prisoners and twelve or fifteen thousand dollars' worth of property, and returned to Warrenton in time to repulse the advance of fifteen hundred cavalry and one battery of artillery, and that without the loss of a single man killed or wounded.

On Friday morning, 17th inst., Major C. M. Andrews, commanding seven companies of the second North Carolina cavalry, and two pieces of artillery, which have been recently attached to the regiment, left this place for the purpose of reconnoitering in the vicinity of Manassas and Centerville. Having marched without opposition till late in the night, a halt was made when within three miles of Centerville, and the whole command slept on their arms.

At 3 o'clock the next morning a counter-march was ordered, leading via Manassas and on to Centerville. At the latter place information was obtained that a Yankee train of wagons with a cavalry escort, had passed there during the night, going in the direction of Thompson's Gap.

Our cavalry immediately started in pursuit, and had proceeded not more than a mile, when the "blue coats" were discovered at a small village known as Hay Market. Not waiting to ascertain their strength or position, the commanding officer ordered companies D, G, and H, to charge upon the town, while he held companies A, B, F, and I, with the artillery in reserve.

Regardless of the numbers that might oppose them, our brave boys raised a yell and dashed off at full speed, Captain Randolph, of Company H, leading the column in the most gallant style. After a slight resistance the enemy commenced a precipitous flight, when the remaining companies were ordered to charge. The work was short and quick—the whole party being "bagged" in a few moments. One lieutenant and twenty-three privates were made prisoners and three killed; seven wagons, loaded with quartermaster and commissary stores, were taken; also, two contrabands, (runaways,) twenty-eight splendid horses, twenty-four mules, twenty-five sabres, twenty-seven army repeaters, and the same number of breech-loading rifles. Our loss was none killed or wounded.

Having learned that a large force was advancing on our rear from Centerville, we then commenced a forced march for Warrenton, in order to save the spoils, and had been in camp not more than an hour when a courier arrived, stating that the enemy were advancing on Warrenton. Posting the different squadrons in the most advantageous positions beyond the town, with the two pieces (12-pounders) under command of Lieutenant Betts, drawn up on a hill to the extreme left, a determined stand was resolved upon. Scarcely had these dispositions been made when a small body of cavalry, supposed to be the advance guard, was discerned advancing up the turnpike, about three quarters of a mile distant. Lieutenant Betts was ordered to open on them; and, after several rounds were fired, they concluded to advance no further, but retired. The cavalry were then ordered to charge, but, not coming on, they were prevented from following up the retreat to a very great distance. Their force is reported by citizens who saw them at fifteen hundred cavalry and six pieces of artillery. Ours was two hundred cavalry and two pieces of artillery. Their loss in the skirmish beyond the town was one killed and six wounded. Our loss none.

From Bermuda.

We have information from Bermuda, (says the Charleston Mercury,) by a late arrival, up to the 24th inst., that part of Commodore Wilkes' fleet which had been blockading there had left for parts unknown. The ship Ella, Capt. Carter, had arrived with a cargo of coal. The steamships Merrimack, Harriet Pinckney, and Phoenix, were still at St. George's.—Capt. Maury, C. S. N., and several other officers had arrived safely at the Bermuda Isles from the Confederate States. A brig which arrived at St. George's, with coal for the Yankee squadron, had sailed for parts unknown.

ADJUTANT GEN'L'S OFFICE,

Raleigh, Oct. 17, 1863.

GENERAL ORDERS,

No. 9.

The following regulations are published for the information of those persons wishing to claim bounty for deceased soldiers, in accordance with an ordinance of the Convention ratified the 23d day of February, 1863:

REGULATIONS.

1. The payment of bounty to the representatives of deceased soldiers is based upon the certificate of the commanding officer of the company, who will state the time of the enlistment of the soldier, the date of his death in service, the amount of bounty already paid by the State, and the company and regiment to which he belonged.
2. The claimant will make affidavit before a magistrate that he or she is the next kin to the deceased, according to the provisions of the foregoing ordinance of the Convention, and that there is no other person entitled to make claim. The affidavit of the claimant must be sustained by that of one disinterested witness, and the facts stated are correct within his own knowledge, and that he has no interest in the claim.
3. If the claimant or claimants be minors, payment will be made to the guardian, upon the production of the proper certificate under the seal of the Court, of his appointment and the sufficiency of his bond—the claim to be proved by him as in and to the order of the Court.
